Cell Cycle Taskboard

Choose TWO of the following options below to complete:

Due: 10/12

#1: Autobiography

Write an autobiography of a cell as it goes through each stage of the cell cycle. Remember an autobiography is when someone tells their own story, so personify the cell! Be creative.

#2: Flip Book

Illustrate a flip book on notecards that gives life to the cell cycle. Each stage should be clearly illustrated with detailed captions on the back of each card. You will need a title and at least 2 cards per stage to show movement.

#3: Poem

Write a poem or song that will help you remember the stages of the cell cycle. It will need to be at least 12 lines in length and should rhyme.

#4: Letter

Write a letter, as a cell that has gone through the cell cycle, to a younger cell "brother or sister" who is about to undergo the cycle and is nervous about it, explaining the process to them.

#5: Who Am I?

Write a series of "Who Am I?" riddles for each stage of the cell cycle and see if we can guess each stage. You will have a total of 6 riddles that should each be a minimum of 3 lines in length.

#6: Create your own

If you have an idea that is not on this board, please just get the idea "okayed" with me before you start!
